

The INFJ Coach

Decision Z

When we make decisions we tend to view situations from the perspectives that are most comfortable for us. For example, if we prefer Feeling, we may forgo logic and just consider the “people” aspect. Using this model will help you consider all aspects when you make a decision.

